It was of more than incidental interest to a great many people in towns hereabouts that one of The Bulletin's advertising pages, Monday morning, carried a notice that the State Highway Commissioner C. J. Bennett asking again for bids on highway department proposals to construct certain stretches of state highways in eastern Connecticut and leaving the list was a section between Brookline and Hampton, which section has been casually mentioned recently in this column. Killingly people have noted with interest and pleasure the fact that Judge Edwin S. Russell of Danielson has been mentioned among those who are being considered by republicans for the party nomination for congress from the second district of Connecticut. Judge Russell is the son of Congressman Charles Russell, who as a member of the house of representatives at Washington made a record of service which Connecticut ever will be proud of.

On the train leaving here at 3:15 p. m. today (Tuesday) the Fresh Air kiddies will start back to New York, having rounded out their two weeks' visit in the country. To these little people from New York's tenement districts, who have been in Danielson and Brooklyn has been a real delight, and the children surely will retain benefits and memories of their stay for a long time to come.

As a sort of reward to their vacation experience, the little people were given a delightful outing at Mrs. Victor Smith's farm, on Allen Hill. This was a real picnic party with games, awards and refreshments. Neighboring children gathered to join in the event and the entire party of young people numbered 21. Croquet and other games were played. There was a peanut scramble, awards and refreshments. The little people were given a drive in a pretty pony, which none of the little New Yorkers missed, was a big feature of the day.

Before leaving, Danielson the little people were presented a bag of candy by a G. A. R. veteran who is interested in children, and to show their appreciation of the gift a score of lusty cheers joined in giving three cheers to their generous soldier, who was delighted as he listened and watched the children waving American flags and Italian flags.

Miss Perkins, chairman of the committee that had charge of the arrangements for placing the visitors in homes here, is well pleased with the experience and over the fact that the youthful visitors had such a glorious good time through the generosity and kindness of Danielson's people who made places in their homes for the visitors.

MEMORIAL OF DIRECTORS.
At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Norwich and Worcester Railroad Company, held July 14, 1920, the following Memorial, presented by the President, was adopted by the Directors and ordered transcribed upon their records:

MEMORIAL.
The Directors desire to place on the records of the Board their sincere sorrow at the death of Mr. M. M. Whittemore, who had been a faithful official of the Norwich and Worcester Railroad Company for more than fifty years. His long period of service gave him a familiarity with all that concerned the interests of the Railroad in the days before it was leased, as well as since that date. The Norwich and Worcester Railroad is among the oldest in the United States, and the loss of such an officer means much to the Stockholders, many of whom knew him personally. His intimate friendship and appreciation his fine traits of character will miss an association always so congenial and helpful to his widow and relatives we tender our sincere sympathy in their affliction.

Malcolm M. Whitley, who at last meeting of Anselm Mayke post of the American Legion was appointed chairman of the publicity committee with power to appoint the remaining members, has appointed Jacob Alpert and Ralph Bolenbrook. The formation of the publicity committee is the result of a call issued by the American Legion Weekly urging posts in the organization to elect publicity officers and requesting that post activities be kept before the public. When this is done throughout the country the legion will become one of the most powerful news-gathering agencies in the United States.

Twenty Boy Scouts with their scout master, Rev. G. C. MacKay, pastor of the Baptist church, left Monday morning for Webster Lake where they are to camp for the next two weeks. For the first time this season on their own grounds, Thomas McDermott of North Grosvenordale, and his team met defeat, and the honor of vanquishing one of the fastest semi-professional teams in New England goes to the Millbury, Mass., Athletic Association nine. McDermott's pet, died hard, and it took the visitors a long time to overcome them. The score was 5 to 4. Fans from Putnam who went up the river to see the game, report it to be the fastest contest that the Grosvenordale team has played this season, and this in spite of the fact that after the third inning the diamond was in a soggy and slippery condition owing to the shower that for a time threatened to make it necessary to call off the game altogether. Manager McDermott concedes defeat and is offering no excuses. He is confident, however, that he can produce different results if only his team can have another try at Millbury, and so anxious is he to play the game that he is offering again that another game is being arranged with them for later in the season. Already fans are picturing what will happen when the two teams come together at that time, and are predicting a game that will long be remembered.

The game Sunday resolved itself into a pitching battle between McLeod who was on the mound for Millbury and Cusumy who had been twirling for Putnam this season. Neither had much on the other, but the little advantage that there was rested with McLeod. Millbury scored in the opening inning, and in the second tied things up with a tally in the second. In the third Jupiter Pluvius let loose and for 15 minutes the rain came down in buckets. Umpire Jensen was determined to have the game go on, and when the downpour subsided he called the teams onto the field, and the play began again, though under difficulties.

Grosvenordale crossed the plate twice in the fourth, again in the sixth. In the frame Millbury got three runners around the bases, and the score was four all. The winning run was scored in the 11th, when Bergen, who led off, got a double hit a deep drive to center. A sacrifice by Bailey advanced to third and he scored on Leary's out. North Grosvenordale could not get a man across in the 11th, or individual playing honors go to Hughes who was at the third corner for Grosvenordale. He handled five assists and a mis-play, he Grosvenordale team was somewhat handicapped in the fact that Powers who played first went through the entire game with a sprained ankle. He stepped in a hole in warming up, and at the end of the game was about ready to collapse.
